Why buy now?

Buy-to-let properties are becoming the chosen investment for many as they seek to find an asset where their money can work hard for them, providing high returns as well as offering a safe investment. The price of property in recent years has continued to increase in many areas of the UK and Ireland and the same can be said for rental prices which make a buy-to-let investment even more appealing.

Why should you now seriously consider a Buy-to-let Investment?

High street bank interest rates on your savings are almost non-existent – offering little or no return.

Buy-to-let investors have received consistent returns of almost 5% per cent since 2000.

Buy-to-let property investments are popular among those looking to add to their pension.

The number of landlords has continued to increase, proving it's an asset worth investing in.

Historically, purchasing property has been one of the safest ways to invest but it has also been one of the best performing investments and this still remains the same.

An Irish buy-to-let property investment brings together the benefits of a regular income along with capital appreciation in the long-term.

For those investors looking to make a buy-to-let property investment now is a great time to begin the process. Rental prices are increasing and yields are up, which is why we are confident to guarantee 7% per annum and we also confident this can be achieved and in some cases more, especially if the right property is purchased.

When compared to the extremely low interest on savings it is easy to understand why investing buy-to-let properties is a popular choice with investors, but they are also driven by the potential capital growth in the medium to long-term.

If you're interested in learning more about buy-to-let investments, you can request our comprehensive Buy-to-Let Property Investment Guide which will provide you with information on how to plan, research and begin your first (or next) buy-to-let investment.
